Hello ladies,

I saw this information below on social media. As a parent who supports public school choice I am very worried about what has come out of the UTLA/LAUSD strike in making charter schools seem like the "bad guy". I understand that our school management co may not want to start alarming parents about this or fear sounding bias but I think that it is important for our school's families to know what is going on. Does New L.A. plan to inform parents what is happening and how families can support a family's choice in public funded schools?

This is the information that I saw on CA Charter School association FB page:

https://www.facebook.com/calcharters/?epa=SEARCH_BOX

"In a backroom deal, Los Angeles Unified School District agreed to vote on a resolution asking Sacramento to ban any new charter schools in Los Angeles. LAUSD needs to know that charter schools are an important option for our kids and that we will protect them.

Email LAUSD board members today and ask them to vote NO on the ban! #NoCharterBan #KidsNotPolitics <https://hubs.ly/H0gkDWw0>"

It says there is going to be a vote by LAUSD school board on January 29th.

Thank you for your time.

Hi Sonia,

Thank you for reaching out about this concerning issue. There will be information in this week's Friday email on the resolution and what actions parents can do to take action, including contacting George McKenna and attending the rally hosted by CCSA prior to the Board meeting. I will be there and would love to have New LA parents join! Please let me know if you have questions or would like to talk with me about this. I have availability on Monday morning for a phone call.

Best wishes,
Ms. Rios
